

Studio+ gives users the option to share files with or without a password.

1. Users will be sent an email that contains a link, along with a password if needed, in the body of the shared email. Clicking the link will allow users to view the shared file. It may first require a password to be entered from the shared email.

2. Once the user is granted access to Studio+, the shared file will become visible to the user. To open, select the file from share navigator window.

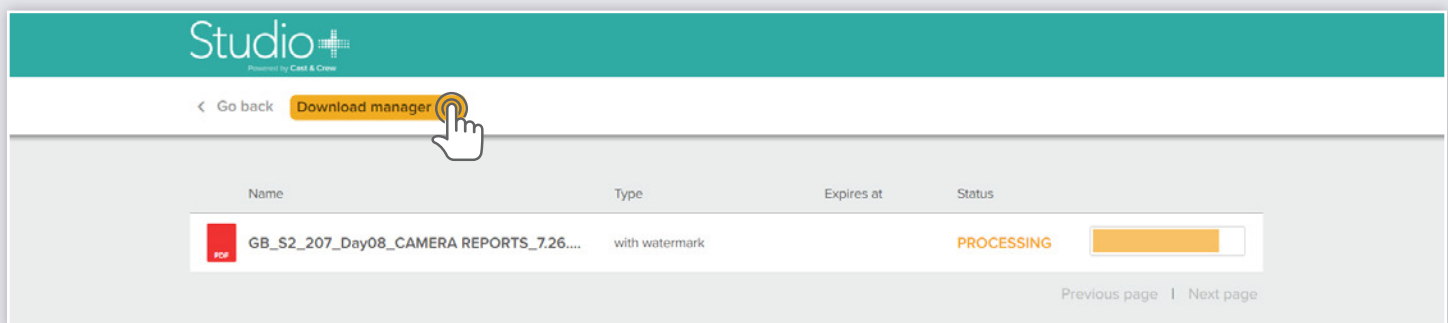

Studio+

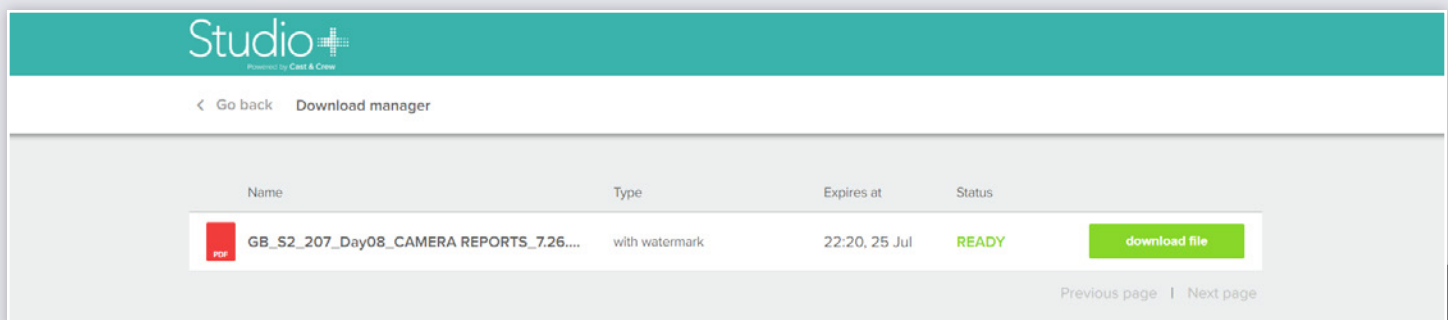

- Depending on set permissions, users may have the option to download the shared file. To do so, select the down arrow at the top right corner of the screen. NOTE: Before a file can be downloaded, a watermark will be applied.

- To access your shared files, select Download Manager from the menu bar. The download manager will provide a status of the download and allow users appropriate access to the shared file.

- Users can back out of the download manager and browse other shared files, and can return to retrieve previously shared files.
